

Once flushed thoroughly

Many of you have asked us how the shelter is doing because of the storm, which hit Aegina and its inhabitants in particular and on a large scale. First of all, we thank you for your great sympathy!

Luckily, the shelter is located on top of a mountain, so the water coming down from the sky washed through the shelter, but the water ran down the mountain into the valley as fast as it came. Here are a few impressions from this morning:
